DEATH OF MR. W. R. H. CAREW.

INQUEST.

FIRST DAY.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24TH.

At the R.N. Hospital, Yokohama, J. O. Hall, Esq. (H.B.M. Consulsitting as Coroner), opened an enquiry into the circumstances attending the death of W. R. H. Carew, late Secretary of the Yokohama United Club, whose death occurred at the Hospital on the afternoon of the 22nd idem.

Messrs. T. Rose, J. K. Trafford, E. T. Nicholas, G. Blandell, and E. Powys were sworn on the Jury.

Dr. E. Wheeler, sworn, said: I was the medical attendant of the deceased. He was ailing on Thursday week, and I advised him to go home and keep quiet for a few days. I told him that his liver was out of order and that he had better remain quiet. On Saturday he showed signs of irritability of the stomach; but on part of Sunday and Monday he retained his food. On Monday morning he had extreme irritability of the stomach and was excessively thirsty. On Tuesday morning I told Mr. Carew that I thought I would ask Dr. Todd in the afternoon to come and see him with me. Dr. Todd and myself had a consultation in the afternoon. The only thing we could find was that the liver was a little contracted—what we call cirrotic liver—but not enough to account for the excessive vomiting and distress. On Wednesday morning I was told he had passed a very bad night and slept very little; and on the same morning he had very bad diarrhoea added to the other symptoms, the motion being of a dark green colour. At tiffin time I had a letter from Mrs. Carew stating that she did not think her husband so well, and asking me if I could get Dr. Baelz down to look at him. I telegraphed up, and the answer was "Impossible this evening. Will to-morrow do?" A little before dinner, about seven, I took the answer to Mrs. Carew and showed it to her; but as he had had rather a better afternoon we decided to wait till morning. On Thursday morning I went round at seven o'clock, and found the patient was considerably worse. I had made up my mind to get him into hospital if possible. When I was attending Mr. Doag's funeral, a little after nine, a communication was made to me by Mr. Dunlop telling me to go and see Mrs. Carew's nursery governess, and mentioning something about arsenic being taken there, or something like that. I went round to Mrs. Lowder's, where the children were with the nursery governess. I asked the governess, "What is this I hear about arsenic?" She said, "Oh, what do you suspect about that?" I replied, "I suspected last night and this morning, and had determined to get him into hospital." I did not know who was giving it or whether he was taking it himself. There was a slight delay in getting him into hospital owing to Dr. Todd being away for the day; and the junior in charge did not like to take responsibility. As you yourself (Coroner) are aware, I asked you to use your influence to get him admitted into the hospital as soon as possible. A little before tiffin I told Mr. Poreh, Mrs. Carew's brother, to go up to Mr. Carew's room and to remain there until I returned with a stretcher, as I told him I thought Mr. Carew was getting arsenic in some form, and to see that he had nothing but a little milk and soda from him. A little before two o'clock Dr. May told me I could bring Mr. Carew round to the Hospital. I asked for the stretcher and had him removed to the Hospital about three in the afternoon. After a consultation with Dr. May, I left, saying I would return at half-past five, but in the Settlement about five o'clock a messenger met me and told me to come up to the Hospital at once. When I arrived I met Dr. May, who told me that Mr. Carew was dead. I may state that I had a letter unsigned, which my office boy told me came from No.

A Winter in Japan ^AND China

San Francisco, November 21st, 1889.

Sailed at 3:00 P. M. on the Steamship Oceanic, Captain C. H. Kemperson commanding, with 37 1st class passengers bound for Japan and China. Among the passengers on board, is Miss Bisland of Louisiana, who was on a "trot" around the world, competing with "Nellie Bly," in making the quickest time in reaching New York; Miss Bly sailed east the same day Miss Bisland left New York for the west.

Went out over the bar, and discharged the Pilot at 4:20 P. M., and sailed on our course, W. S. W., for Japan, wind fresh from the S. W. with rain, we soon lost sight of America; Mrs. G. went to bed, and staid there in order not to be sea-sick.

November 22—Wind fresh from the west, passengers not all seasick; course W. S. W., with ship rolling badly.

November 23—Weather and wind as yesterday; passengers still sick.

November 24—Wind fresh ahead, passengers commence to come on deck, and some of them looked as though they had been a little indisposed, and not in a fit frame of mind to sing "A life on the ocean wave, and a home on the rolling deep."

November 25-26—About the same as the 24th.

November 27—Course still W. S. W., with fair wind; passengers commence to make the acquaintance of each other.

November 28—This A. M. warm and raining, sea smooth, passengers commence to take interest in each other; it being Thanksgiving Day, the cabin was decorated with the flags of the United States, England and Japan, and an extra good dinner was served, plenty of roast Turkey, Pumpkin Pie and Plum Pudding, and all were happy. At 8:00 P. M. the Purser distributed the following program.

THE ANCIENT PIT-DWELLERS OF YEZO.

By ROMYN HITCHCOCK.

When the first Emperor of Japan, known by the posthumous title Jimmu Tenno, whose traditional reign began 660 B. C., was on his imperial journey eastward from ancient Tsukushi, to establish the seat of government in Yamato, he came to a great "cave" or "apartment", in which eighty tsuchi-gumo or cave-dwelling savages were awaiting him. The word tsuchi-gumo is usually translated "earth-spiders," but Prof. B. H. Chamberlain regards it as a corruption of tsuchi-gomori, or "earth-hiders." Whatever the original meaning may have been, there can be no doubt that it was applied to a savage people, who inhabited Japan before the coming of the Japanese.

The ancient records of the Japanese contain many allusions to these dwellers in caves, or dwellers under ground. In the reign of the Emperor Keiko two Kumaso braves were killed in a cave by Yamato-take. The Empress Jingo Kogo was wrecked among tsuchi-gumo. They are said to have been numerous in Bungo and in other western provinces, in Omi, in Yamato, and in other localities.

The character of their dwellings is not clearly defined, owing to the ambiguous meaning of the Chinese character translated "cave." In certain parts of Japan natural caves are numerous, but they are not common throughout the country. Artificial caves are not uncommon, but I have endeavored to show, in an article treating of ancient Japanese burial customs, read before section H of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Toronto in 1889, that such caves were constructed for interment of the dead and not for dwellings. Still other structures, chambers made by piling up huge rocks and heaping up mounds of earth to cover them, are also numerous in southern Japan, and these have been designated as caves by von Siebold, rather carelessly it seems to me. But these also were only burial chambers. Granting that mere opinions concerning such a subject are not of much value, I would only add that until some stronger evidence than von Siebold has adduced gives color to the idea that the early inhabitants of Japan lived in true caves, I hold that their dwellings were more probably of the character of the pit-dwellings to be described in this article. It is true we do not find the ruins of such
